

Supplier Agreement: Fair Labor Chocolate

Child slave labor is known to be a disturbing part of the chocolate industry. It was first reported in 1998 when UNICEF found cacao farmers in the Ivory Coast relying on enslaved children to cultivate and harvest cocoa beans.

MOM's Organic Market goes to great lengths to ensure our products do not exploit the environment or human life. It is for that reason that we ask you to answer the following questions about your cocoa supply:

1. Where is your cocoa sourced from? Please list all countries no matter if they make up 1% or 100% of you total cocoa volume.

2. Do you use third –party certifications that address fair labor standards? If so, which ones?

3. OR, does your company or your cocoa supplier have a proprietary fair labor program or policy? If so, please explain and submit supporting documents.
